

Useful sites

In this Safety Card a number of useful sites are listed for the facilitation of the EHS professionals that are constantly using or are in the need of using reliable information on the relevant issues.

EHSEC's intention is no way connected to the promotion of any sites, their contents and/ or any commercial activity that may be linked to these sites other than for information purposes of its members. Some sites may require or may prompt the visitor to subscribe in order to get regular information through newsletters; this is a decision that remains at the user's discretion to make and EHSEC in no way encourages or discourages the reader from doing so.
